TEMPORARY INJUNCTION AGAINST R. R. EMPLOYES ON STRIKE MADE PERMANENT BY FEDERAL COURT

Decree Considered Most Widespread Restraining Order Ever Issued —Effects Near 400,000 Railroad Workers in U. S.

TWO MONTHS' SHOPMENS' STRIKE COST $96,500,000

By Associated Press

CHICAGO, July 12.—Final decree making permanent the temporary injunction obtained by the government in federal court here October 5, 1922, against railway employes, the department of the American Federation of Labor, its officers and others restraining them from interfering in any manner with the operation of railroads during a nationwide shopmen's strike, was entered today by Judge James Wilkerson of the federal district court. The decree is considered the most widespread restraining order ever obtained. Its effects approximately four hundred thousand railroad employees and shop crafts officers concerned in the strike. Attorney General Daugherty sought the injunction.

Theoretically the strike still is in effect. The shopmen returned after two months during which troops were called to some places, on an agreement known as the Baltimore agreement, which left the question of seniority the main point of contention to the commission for decision. The shopmen's strike cost fifty railroads from which evidence was adduced, approximately ninety-six and a half million dollars not including property damaged, loss of business, increased cost of business, etc. According to government testimony which also cited fifteen hundred instances of assaults and nineteen deaths due to alleged violence of the strikers. Defendants have sixty days to fine an appeal.

QUEER LITTLE DOOR PARTS MOTHER AND BABY FOREVER

By Associated Press

RIO DE JANEIRO, July 12.—One of the most curious institutions in this city is the "Casa dos Expostos," a foundling asylum that receives its small inmates through a sort of revolving door which is so built in a wall that the person operating it from the outside cannot see inside the building nor be seen by persons within.

The purpose of this mysterious door is to enable unfortunate mothers to place their offspring in safe keeping without revealing their identity or whatever secrets may have been connected with their existence.

Most of the foundlings the asylum officials say, are put within the revolving door at night when there is little or no traffic on the street outside. With the turning of the door a bell rings, which announces to the attendants that a new guest has arrived.

If a note giving the child's name or other information is pinned to its clothes, it is baptised with that name, but once a baby is placed within the door by the despairing mother, it is never returned, no matter what change in fortune may come to the mother or what claims she may advance to support her repentance.

The inmates of the "Casa dos Expostos" are raised like orphans and prepared for life with the best care within the ability of the gentle nuns who manage the institution. Many of the children are adopted by childless couples. Founded in 1738, the institution in the two centuries of its existence has furnished more than 45,000 citizens to this city, some of whom achieved renown and high positions—and their introduction to the world was a revolving door.

RETAIL FLOUR TO DECLINE BECAUSE OF WHEAT DROP

Retail prices of flour will drop as a result of the general decline in the wheat market, according to a member of the Lone Mountain Milling company firm. The lower prices should be effective in two or three weeks, he stated.

The price of wheat dropped below one dollar on the Chicago market yesterday. The local milling firm has taken advantage of the slump in the market and bought several thousand bushels.

WILLARD-FIRPO FIGHT TONIGHT

Former Heavy Weight Champion Will Meet Argentinian in New York —Expect 70,000 at Bout

By Associated Press

JERSEY CITY, N. J., July 12.—Two modern gladiators, one from the Kansas prairies, the other from the Pampas of Argentine, will stake pugilistic futures in a twelve round bout at Boyles thirty acres tonight when Jess Willard, former heavy weight title holder, and Luis Firpo meet. Much interest centers in the fight as the winner is assured a chance with Jack Dempsey. Advance ticket sales were past the thirty-five thousand mark and a crowd of seventy thousand or better is expected to see the bout.

Both men rested today and are said to be in the pink of condition. Both expressed confidence and experts agree a single well placed blow may decide. Willard has been idle for years.

GUNN EJECTION CASES ON TRIAL

Would Force Miners to Move From Company's Houses—J. M. Robsion Here For Suit

Trial of the case of W. E. Gunn against M. B. Arvin in which the former attempts to force the latter to move from the coal company's house took place before Magistrate Charles G. Smyth this afternoon. It was not finished at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon.

Plaintiff's contention is that, according to contract, defendant may be legally dispossessed after he has ceased to work at the mines.

It was brought out in the evidence that the mines owned by Mr. Gunn were closed May 21, this year. Plaintiff contends he was forced to close on account of low market prices. Defendant alleges that Mr. Gunn did not appear before the arbitration board to have the matter of closing agreed upon as is provided for in the contract.

Mr. Gunn admitted that he did not appear before the board and when asked if he were willing to appear now stated that he had not made up his mind.

The decision of the case seems to hinge upon whether or not the mines have been legally closed.

Congressman J. M. Robsion of Barbourville was here for the trial.

UNKNOWN PERSONS CHOP DEPUTY'S CAR TO PIECES

The garage of J. H. Miracle, deputy sheriff at Bosworth, Ky., was broken into last night by some unknown person or persons and his Overland automobile was entirely destroyed. The body of the car was chopped into small pieces with an axe, and the top of it was cut into strips with a knife. Mr. Miracle is offering one hundred dollars reward for the apprehension of the guilty person.

Mr. Miracle said the deed must have been done some time after midnight as the store clerk, who lives next door to him, reported the door shut and locked when he got in at 11:30 p. m.

John Wilson, deputy at Bosworth, too, said today that he heard some one at his garage early this morning, but when he got up to see what was the matter he saw a group of men leaving. He thinks now that they must have been after his car.

Negro Excursion From Knoxville

An excursion train containing six coaches and a baggage car brought a large number of negroes here today from Knoxville. The train was scheduled to arrive about noon and to return about 10 o'clock tonight.

PASS ORDINANCE ON PAVING EAST CUMBERLAND AVE

City Engineer Approves State Specifications, Bids To Be Advertised As Soon As Bill Passes Second Reading

SPECIAL COUNCIL SESSION LAST NIGHT TO ACT ON IT

Ordinance for paving East Cumberland avenue from Seventeenth to Tenth street and Fitzpatrick avenue to Ashbury avenue passed the first reading at the special meeting of the city council last night.

Mayor J. H. Keeney stated that the state plans had been checked and approved by J. C. Richardson, city engineer. The ordinance will pass the second reading on the next regular council meeting night, he stated, and bids will be advertised that the work may begin without delay.

According to the approved specifications, East Cumberland avenue will have a park in the center fifteen feet wide, driveways twenty-two feet in width on either side and six-inch curbs. Fitzpatrick avenue will be twenty-five feet wide. The paving will be of rock asphalt on a concrete base. The asphalt surface on Cumberland avenue will be rolled down to a one and one-half inch thickness.

The state will pay one-third of the entire construction cost and the state engineer will be incharge of the work. After the contract is let it must be approved by the state, the mayor said.

Mayor Keeney said he had in his possession figures indicating that the work can be done at a cost of $150 for each lot. In regard to higher figures that have been suggested he said that there has been a great deal of propaganda to discourage the work.

"This propaganda has been from the outside," he state, "but I won't let anything be put over on me unless it is when I am asleep."

He explained how he had always been in favor of the proposition and that the delay in getting the work started has not been the fault of the city.

A petition that a foot-bridge be built over the creek at Thirty-fourth street was referred to the street committee.

A request that some of the old paving being taken from Cumberland avenue be used to fill low places on Exeter avenue was made. The mayor instructed the resident to take the matter up with the city engineer.

A motion was passed to the effect that the mayor sell the city's old concrete mixer to the Humbard construction company at the highest price possible.

The police committee reported that, as the police car which collided with and damaged the car of Milburn Lynch on the evening of July 1, was on the wrong side of the street, the city should pay for the damaged car. Motion was passed that such payment be made.

ROBSION TO SPEAK IN CITY TONIGHT

Promises To Tell of Chances For National Park at Cumberland Gap At Ladies' Night

Congressman J. M. Robsion, of Barbourville, representative from this, the Eleventh District, is in Middlesboro today in connection with a civil case being tried in magistrate's court. He will remain here to be a guest at the Kiwanis Ladies' Night dinner tonight. Mr. Robsion has promised to speak on the proposed Lincoln Memorial National park at this time, and to give his opinion of the chances of getting it.

Mr. Robsion has been an enthusiastic booster of the park at Cumberland Gap from the very first. It was his bill that brought the matter to public attention when introduced into Congress last winter and it is understood he will introduce a similar bill in regard to the park at the next session of Congress.

This announcement was made by prime minister Baldwin in a statement in the House of Commons today on Great Britain's reparation policy. He said "the opinion throughout Europe was becoming more sensitive to conditions with alarm at their continuance. Recovery of the world is in danger and peace is at stake," he declared.

SHORT SESSION THIS MORNING ONLY BUSINESS TO BE CONSIDERED DURING TWO DAYS OUTING IN MIDDLESBORO

T. R. Hill Welcomes Visitors to City in Enthusiastic Speech—Several of Lumbermen Give Short Talks In Reply

REST OF PROGRAM GIVEN OVER TO PLEASURE AND VISITING

Lumbermen from all sections of Kentucky and from several other states met in convention here this morning. The meeting in Middlesboro being chiefly for recreational purposes, business was limited to a brief session at the Manring theater.

Delegates which have been arriving since yesterday morning met in the lobby of the Cumberland hotel and renewed acquaintances and made new friends. Hugh Allen was present and, being acquainted with most of the visitors, made many of the introductions.

The delegates met at the Manring theater at 10:30 a. m., where the registrations were made, Miss Taylor being in charge of this work.

T. Russ Hill, in his characteristic, rapid-fire manner made the address of welcome which was enthusiastically received.

"We always have the latch-string out here in Middlesboro, for all visitors whether they be Salvation army representatives or rough-neck lumbermen," he began.

"But speaking of lumber, you men are right now in the heart of virgin forests of ancient timber and sturdy oaks. Eastern Kentucky is the best place in the world and Middlesboro is the best town in the section.

"We are standing on a firm foundation here now. We spend more money per capita for education than any town in the state; five new school buildings were erected here last year. Our city superintendent receives the second largest salary of any in the state, and this includes the large cities.

Middlesboro Buildings

"I know you have noticed the Cumberland hotel which is the best this side of Lexington. It was built by the blood and sweat of the citizenry. It was built by a large number of promoters, no one having more than $5000 invested in it.

"This magnificent theater building which we are in now is characteristic of the town. Mr. Brown, a public spirited citizen, has made it possible for us to have the best in the way of amusements.

"We know that we kill more people here and make better moonshine than any other town in the state. Our men, many of the, don't look well in a parlor, but we have the pure Anglo-Saxon blood here from which manhood is made.

"But we are doing more for the cause of religion than any other town in the state. We have the largest Sunday school class in Kentucky.

"Now men, we want to get you sold on Middlesboro; we want you to advertise it when you return to your home towns. We are trying to get the Lincoln National park here, have offered 12,000 acres of land for a site and Secretary Hubert Work and other officials have spoken favorably of the proposition.

Proposed National Park

"Such a park will be a great boon to all parts of the state. We want it here so that people from the outside world may come here that we may learn from them, that they may see what we have here and utilize it for the benefit of the nation.

"We want you to make yourselves at home here. We will let you run Middlesboro for the next two days. Take anything you see that's loose. We all bid you a hearty welcome."

Mr. Hill told a few choice jokes during his address which brought forth roars of laughter from the guests. The applause was loud and prolonged at the conclusion of his speech, lasting until he had gone from the building.

J. F. Pettus, president of the association, made a brief reply to the address of welcome. He said that he had known Mr. Hill several years ago and that he had heard reports from him frequently. "He is known as the mouthpiece of Middlesboro," the president stated.

The meeting was then turned over to Secretary J. Crow Taylor who stated that there was really no business to be brought before the convention.

J. W. Allison made a brief talk in which he expressed pleasure in welcoming the dealers, salesmen and others who make up the convention. The three local lumber companies, he assured them, would do all in their power to make the visit a pleasant one.

Sight Seeing Tomorrow

Several short talks were made by various delegates on the subject of lumber stock insurance. It was generally agreed that the mutual form of insurance is more economical and highly preferable.

Hugh Allen made a brief talk in which he stated that the visitors would be taken through the proposed Lincoln National Park site and the Lincoln Memorial University this afternoon. The party, he stated, would leave the hotel in automobiles at 2:30 p. m.

At 8 o'clock tonight the delegates will be entertained by the Kiwanis club at their banquet at the Hotel Cumberland.

The schedule for tomorrow is essentially one of sightseeing and pleasure. With individual variations as the visitors see fit, the program arranged follows:

9:00 a. m., trip to Country Club.

12 o'clock, auto trip to Pineville, lunching with Pineville Kiwanis Club at Continental Hotel. After lunch, a drive up Paige road, returning to Middlesboro at 4:30.

5:00 p. m., trip to Fern Lake.

7:00 p. m. return to hotel.

The complete roster of the convention follows:

BUT YES WE GOT MORE BANANAS IN MEXICO

By Associated Press

MEXICO CITY, July 12.—The dredging of the port of Fontera, to permit the entry of large steamers, is completed and a boom in export of bananas is expected as a result.

Fontera assembled over 4,000,000 bunches of bananas last year, but less than half could be moved because of the lack of harbor facilities.

New oil wells at Tabasco also are expected to add to the maritime activity of Frontera.

TEMPORARY INJUNCTION AGAINST R. R. EMPLOYES ON STRIKE MADE PERMANENT BY FEDERAL COURT

Decree Considered Most Widespread Restraining Order Ever Issued —Effects Near 400,000 Railroad Workers in U. S.

TWO MONTHS' SHOPMENS' STRIKE COST $96,500,000

By Associated Press

CHICAGO, July 12.—Final decree making permanent the temporary injunction obtained by the government in federal court here October 5, 1922, against railway employes, the department of the American Federation of Labor, its officers and others restraining them from interfering in any manner with the operation of railroads during a nationwide shopmen's strike, was entered today by Judge James Wilkerson of the federal district court. The decree is considered the most widespread restraining order ever obtained. Its effects approximately four hundred thousand railroad employees and shop crafts officers concerned in the strike. Attorney General Daugherty sought the injunction.

Theoretically the strike still is in effect. The shopment returned after two months during which troops were called to some places, on an agreement known as the Baltimore agreement, which left the question of seniority the main point of contention to the commission for decision. The shopmen's strike cost fifty railroads from which evidence was adduced, approximately ninety-six and a half million dollars not including property damaged, loss of business, increased cost of business, etc. According to government testimony which also cited fifteen hundred instances of assaults and nineteen deaths due to alleged violence of the strikers. Defendants have sixty days to fine an appeal.

QUEER LITTLE DOOR PARTS MOTHER AND BABY FOREVER

By Associated Press

RIO DE JANEIRO, July 12.—One of the most curious institutions in this city is the "Casa dos Expostos," a foundling asylum that receives its small inmates through a sort of revolving door which is so built in a wall that the person operating it from the outside cannot see inside the building nor be seen by persons within.

The purpose of this mysterious door is to enable unfortunate mothers to place their offspring in safe keeping without revealing their identity or whatever secrets may have been connected with their existence.

Most of the foundlings the asylum officials say, are put within the revolving door at night when there is little or no traffic on the street outside. With the turning of the door a bell rings, which announces to the attendants that a new guest has arrived.

If a note giving the child's name or other information is pinned to its clothes, it is baptised with that name, but once a baby is placed within the door by the despairing mother, it is never returned, no matter what change in fortune may come to the mother or what claims she may advance to support her repentance.

The inmates of the "Casa dos Expostos" are raised like orphans and prepared for life with the best care within the ability of the gentle nuns who manage the institution. Many of the children are adopted by childless couples. Founded in 1738, the institution in the two centuries of its existence has furnished more than 45,000 citizens to this city, some of whom achieved renown and high positions—and their introduction to the world was a revolving door.

RETAIL FLOUR TO DECLINE BECAUSE OF WHEAT DROP

Retail prices of flour will drop as a result of the general decline in the wheat market, according to a member of the Lone Mountain Milling company firm. The lower prices should be effective in two or three weeks, he stated.

The price of wheat dropped below one dollar on the Chicago market yesterday. The local milling firm has taken advantage of the slump in the market and bought several thousand bushels.

WILLARD-FIRPO FIGHT TONIGHT

Former Heavy Weight Champion Will Meet Argentinian in New York —Expect 70,000 at Bout

By Associated Press

JERSEY CITY, N. J., July 12.—Two modern gladiators, one from the Kansas prairies, the other from the Pampas of Argentine, will stake pugilistic futures in a twelve round bout at Boyles thirty acres tonight when Jess Willard, former heavy weight title holder, and Luis Firpo meet. Much interest centers in the fight as the winner is assured a chance with Jack Dempsey. Advance ticket sales were past the thirty-five thousand mark and a crowd of seventy thousand or better is expected to see the bout.

Both men rested today and are said to be in the pink of condition. Both expressed confidence and experts agree a single well placed blow may decide. Willard has been idle for years.

GUNN EJECTION CASES ON TRIAL

Would Force Miners to Move From Company's Houses—J. M. Robsion Here For Suit

Trial of the case of W. E. Gunn against M. B. Arvin in which the former attempts to force the latter to move from the coal company's house took place before Magistrate Charles G. Smyth this afternoon. It was not finished at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon.

Plaintiff's contention is that, according to contract, defendant may be legally dispossessed after he has ceased to work at the mines.

It was brought out in the evidence that the mines owned by Mr. Gunn were closed May 21, this year. Plaintiff contends he was forced to close on account of low market prices. Defendant alleges that Mr. Gunn did not appear before the arbitration board to have the matter of closing agreed upon as is provided for in the contract.

Mr. Gunn admitted that he did not appear before the board and when asked if he were willing to appear now stated that he had not made up his mind.

The decision of the case seems to hinge upon whether or not the mines have been legally closed.

Congressman J. M. Robsion of Barbourville was here for the trial.

UNKNOWN PERSONS CHOP DEPUTY'S CAR TO PIECES

The garage of J. H. Miracle, deputy sheriff at Bosworth, Ky., was broken into last night by some unknown person or persons and his Overland automobile was entirely destroyed. The body of the car was chopped into small pieces with an axe, and the top of it was cut into strips with a knife. Mr. Miracle is offering one hundred dollars reward for the apprehension of the guilty person.

Mr. Miracle said the deed must have been done some time after midnight as the store clerk, who lives next door to him, reported the door shut and locked when he got in at 11:30 p. m.

John Wilson, deputy at Bosworth, too, said today that he heard some one at his garage early this morning, but when he got up to see what was the matter he saw a group of men leaving. He thinks now that they must have been after his car.

PASS ORDINANCE ON PAVING EAST CUMBERLAND AVE

City Engineer Approves State Specifications, Bids To Be Advertised As Soon As Bill Passes Second Reading

SPECIAL COUNCIL SESSION LAST NIGHT TO ACT ON IT

Ordinance for paving East Cumberland avenue from Seventeenth to Tenth street and Fitzpartick avenue to Ashbury avenue passed the first reading at the special meeting of the city council last night.

Mayor J. H. Keeney stated that the state plans had been checked and approved by J. C. Richardson, city engineer. The ordinance will pass the second reading on the next regular council meeting night, he stated, and bids will be advertised that the work may begin without delay.

According to the approved specifications, East Cumberland avenue will have a park in the center fifteen feet wide, driveways twenty-two feet in width on either side and six-inch curbs. Fitzpatrick avenue will be twenty-five feet wide. The paving will be of rock asphalt on a concrete base. The asphalt surface on Cumberland avenue will be rolled down to a one and one-half inch thickness.

The state will pay one-third of the entire construction cost and the state engineer will be incharge of the work. After the contract is let it must be approved by the state, the mayor said.

Mayor Keeney said he had in his possession figures indicating that the work can be done at a cost of $150 for each lot. In regard to higher figures that have been suggested he said that there has been a great deal of propaganda to discourage the work.

"This propaganda has been from the outside," he state, "but I won't let anything be put over on me unless it is when I am asleep."

He explained how he had always been in favor of the proposition and that the delay in getting the work started has not been the fault of the city.

A petition that a foot-bridge be built over the creek at Thirty-fourth street was referred to the street committee.

A request that some of the old paving being taken from Cumberland avenue be used to fill low places on Exeter avenue was made. The mayor instructed the resident to take the matter up with the city engineer.

A motion was passed to the effect that the mayor sell the city's old concrete mixer to the Hubbard construction company at the highest price possible.

The police committee reported that, as the police car which collided with and damaged the car of Millburn Lynch on the evening of July 1, was on the wrong side of the street, the city should pay for the damaged car. Motion was passed that such payment be made.

Congressman J. M. Robsion, of Barbourville, representative from this, the Eleventh District, is in Middlesboro today in connection with a civil case being tried in magistrate's court. He will remain here to be a guest at the Kiwanis Ladies' Night dinner tonight. Mr. Robsion has promised to speak on the proposed Lincoln Memorial National park at this time, and to give his opinion of the chances of getting it.

Mr. Robsion has been an enthusiastic booster of the park at Cumberland Gap from the very first. It was his bill that brought the matter to public attention when introduced into Congress last winter and it is understood he will introduce a similar bill in regard to the park at the next session of Congress.

SHORT SESSION THIS MORNING ONLY BUSINESS TO BE CONSIDERED DURING TWO DAYS OUTING IN MIDDLESBORO

T. R. Hill Welcomes Visitors to City in Enthusiastic Speech—Several of Lumbermen Give Short Talks In Reply

REST OF PROGRAM GIVEN OVER TO PLEASURE AND VISITING

Lumbermen from all sections of Kentucky and from several other states met in convention here this morning. The meeting in Middlesboro being chiefly for recreational purposes, business was limited to a brief session at the Manring theater.

Delegates which have been arriving since yesterday morning met in the lobby of the Cumberland hotel and renewed acquaintances and made new friends. Hugh Allen was present and, being acquainted with most of the visitors, made many of the introductions.

The delegates met at the Manring theater at 10:30 a. m., where the registrations were made, Miss Taylor being in charge of this work.

T. Russ Hill, in his characteristic, rapid-fire manner made the address of welcome which was enthusiastically received.

"We always have the latch-string out here in Middlesboro, for all visitors whether they be Salvation army representatives or rough-neck lumbermen," he began.

"But speaking of lumber, you men are right now in the heart of virgin forests of uncut timber and sturdy oaks. Eastern Kentucky is the best place in the world and Middlesboro is the best town in the section.

"We are standing on a firm foundation here now. We spend more money per capita for education than any town in the state: five new school buildings were erected here last year. Our city superintendent receives the second largest salary of any in the state, and this includes the large cities.

Middlesboro Buildings

"I know you have noticed the Cumberland hotel which is the best this side of Lexington. It was built by the blood and sweat of the citizenry. It was built by a large number of promoters, no one having more than $5000 invested in it.

"This magnificent theater building which we are in now is characteristic of the town. Mr. Brown, a public spirited citizen, has made it possible for us to have the best in the way of amusements.

"We know that we kill more people here and make better moonshine than any other town in the state. Our men, many of the, don't look well in a parlor, but we have the pure Anglo-Saxon blood here from which manhood is made.

"But we are doing more for the cause of religion than any other town in the state. We have the largest Sunday school class in Kentucky.

"Now men, we want to get you sold on Middlesboro: we want you to advertise it when you return to your home towns. We are trying to get the Lincoln National park here, have offered 12,000 acres of land for a site and Secretary Hubert Work and other officials have spoken favorably of the proposition.

Proposed National Park

"Such a park will be a great boon to all parts of the state. We want it here so that people from the outside world may come here that we may learn from them, that they may see what we have here and utilize it for the benefit of the nation.

"We want you to make yourselves at home here. We will let you run Middlesboro for the next two days. Take anything you see that's loose. We all bid you a hearty welcome."

Mr. Hill told a few choice jokes during his address which brought forth roars of laughter from the guests. The applause was loud and prolonged at the conclusion of his speech, lasting until he had gone from the building.

J. F. Pettus, president of the association, made a brief reply to the address of welcome. He said that he had known Mr. Hill several years ago and that he had heard reports from him frequently. "He is known as the mouthpiece of Middlesboro," the president stated.

The meeting was then turned over to Secretary J. Crow Taylor who stated that there was really no business to be brought before the convention.

J. W. Allison made a brief talk in which he expressed pleasure in welcoming the dealers, salesmen and others who make up the convention. The three local lumber companies, he assured them, would do all in their power to make the visit a pleasant one.

Sight Seeing Tomorrow

Several short talks were made by various delegates on the subject of lumber stock insurance. It was generally agreed that the mutual form of insurance is more economical and highly preferable.

Hugh Allen made a brief talk in which he stated that the visitors would be taken through the proposed Lincoln National Park site and the Lincoln Memorial University this afternoon. The party, he stated, would leave the hotel in automobiles at 2:30 p. m.

At 8 o'clock tonight the delegates will be entertained by the Kiwanis club at their banquet at the Hotel Cumberland.

The schedule for tomorrow is essentially one of sightseeing and pleasure. With individual variations as the visitors see fit, the program arranged follows:

9:00 a. m., trip to Country Club.

12 o'clock, auto trip to Pineville, lunching with Pineville Kiwanis Club at Continental Hotel. After lunch, a drive up Paige road, returning to Middlesboro at 4:30.

5:00 p. m., trip to Fern Lake.

7:00 p. m. return to hotel.

The complete roster of the convention follows:

BUT YES WE GOT MORE BANANAS IN MEXICO

By Associated Press

MEXICO CITY, July 12.—The dredging of the port of Fontera, to permit the entry of large steamers, is completed and a boom in export of bananas is expected as a result.

Fontera assembled over 4,000,000 bunches of bananas last year, but less than half could be moved because of the lack of harbor facilities.

New oil wells at Tabasco also are expected to add to the maritime activity of Frontera.

A THOUGHT

Wine is a mocker, strong drink is raging; and whosoever is deceived thereby is not wise.—Prov. 20:1.

A vine bears three grapes—the first of pleasure, the second of drunkenness and the third of repentance.—Anacharsis.

WELCOME TO LUMBERMEN

Middlesboro is always pleased to play the role of host to convention visitors and she is particularly pleased to have as her guests such an attractive army of delegates as are assembled here today for the State Retail Lumber Dealers' convention. We hope that these visitors will be equally pleased with our city and with their reception here so that, in time to come, they will visit us again and again, even though there may be no convention to draw them here.

The lumber business is one of the very most vital businesses in the country, providing as it does for the shelter of our population and our industries. No new industrial enterprise ever comes into being without giving the lumberman an important part in its preparation. No family, omitting perhaps the gypsies and Arabs, exists which has not depended at some time and is still in a way dependent on the lumberman. The construction of the material home is the prowess of the lumberman, wherever or what ever it may be, and as such he will always hold his position of importance.

The lumberman in this vicinity has taken on an especial importance in the past few years which have been so marked here by a boom in building. The housing problem is still a serious one here and one which these local concerns are helping, to the best of their ability to work out, financing building by the most liberal credit and giving the benefit of their honest advice.

Because of importance of their business and because of the esteem in which the local lumber dealers are held, then, the convention visitors are doubly welcome. Again we express the hope that their visit be a happy one and their impression of our city a pleasant one.

THE ADVANTAGES OF AMERICA

One of the greatest industrial organizations in the world, typifying the achievement of private enterprise, initiative and inventive genius, is the American Telephone & Telegraph Company. No other business gives a uniform service over such a large area of land as the United States. This is one of the greatest companies that has believed in publicity and has used not only national magazines and metropolitan daily newspapers, but has told its story in the country daily and weekly newspapers throughout the land. It has placed before the American people as no other company has attempted to do through advertising, almost every phase of the operation of its business.

While telephone communication in European countries has been stagnating under political management which killed incentive for invention and development along this line, The American telephone system has progressed to a point where this nation has many times the number of telephones to be found in all of the other countries of the world combined, at much lower rates to customers.

The American System is typical of real public ownership in that the money for its development is furnished by hundreds of thousands of stockholders, including customers and employes, in every state in the union.

For the convenience of customers and to assure good and uniform service, the telephone industry is a na tural monopoly. The advantages of uniformity of service in the United States as well illustrated by a comparison with the patchwork telephone system of Europe. There, when an American visits Europe, he finds it sometimes takes a few minutes the advantage that he really enjoys.

What the country needs is fewer but big fans and more clean faces.

"Woman Builds Own House" headline. Next thing we hear she will be learning to cook.

Rose Hill oil sought. Wars are about over.

Of course there are a few things that the public don't know about building streets, but a lot of local men would like to know why. It is necessary to take all of the old clay from the street-bed and replace it with material just like it.

Henry Ford is preparing to increase his output to 10,000 cars a day, thus further providing his ability as a manufacturer. We all concede that he has been business actuated, that he possesses native talent for accumulating wealth. Such qualities alone, however, do not fit him for the presidency.

Most ordinary business men have a general idea of national governmental affairs and know, in a vague sort of way, things pertaining to foreign affairs. Ford, we contend, is not above the average in this respect. We need for president a highly educated man who understands international affairs like we do those of our own country.

To be a competent national executive a man must, above all, know history thoroughly. If he does not know what has happened in the past he is not able to shape our present affairs nor those of the future. A few years ago Ford admitted on the witness stand that he did not know history, a fact that disqualifies him for the presidency.

Puzzling Plays
By Billy Evans

THE PLAY

Here is an interference play on foul ground caused by one of the players who was waiting for his turn at bat.

The batter hit a foul fly that came down midway between the bench and the home plate. The first baseman and catcher elected to make a play on the ball. The first baseman kept yelling he would take it and the catcher finally decided to allow him to make the play.

Standing near the home plate was the next batter up, catcher Lee of the Cubs. While he had a right to be over in the direction of the bench on the foul ball, he was not entitled to be in the path of the catcher as he came in to field the ball, and for him to make a stand would be interference.

At the time of the play the batsman had to look to the play and he could not be held responsible for getting out of the catcher's way.

What should the play be?

THE INTERPRETATION

The fielder gallops into the right direction on foul territory.

While there probably was no intent on the part of the batsman to interfere with the fielder, he so did when his bat came in contact with the fielder's person about to make the catch.

The umpire was right in declaring the batsman out even though the ball was not fielded.

SHIPS

◇ ◇ ◇ ◇ By Berton Braley ◇ ◇ ◇ ◇

When you see a ship, an American ship,
That's riding the open sea,
When you watch her clean bows rise and dip
And her pennant flying free;
If you have ever had Yankee pride
In even the least degree,
You'll thrill, as ever the eagle tide
In glorious majesty,
You see a ship, an American ship,
That's riding the open sea!

Have you ever heard the outland tale
Of clipper of Yankee make
That never were known to shorten sail
However the storms might break
Oh, those were the days when our flag unfurled
Wherever the ocean rolled,
And American ships sailed 'round the world
On errands unsullied.

"Five million a month," they say, "we lose
By sailing our ships today;
Let's junk the vessels and fire the crews,
For it certainly doesn't pay."
Well, maybe they're right—but somehow I
Am tempted to disagree.
When I see an American shipdriver by
In the spray of the broad blue sea,
And I say, "Five million a month is cheap
Or that's how it seems to me
To keep our ships on the rolling deep
With their brave flags flying free;
American ships, American ships,
American ships at sea!"

LETTER FROM LESLIE PRESCOTT TO LESLIE PRESCOTT, IN CASE OF THE SECRET DRAWER

I simply must open up my heart to you to-night. I will just seal what I produce, forget it in the secret drawer of which I inform Jessie, but things have happened so strangely that I must tell you.

Mr. Prescott was extremely cheerful as we left the office and that is not usual because he has to leave me. He said something about Miss Bradford and made a remark that I took as a compliment. I hope it was. I hope so very much.

Miss Bradford looked rather dressy as she came in. She remained to have lunch with Mr. Allen. He thinks the lady doth protest too much.

I had to sit there and keep still, for after that I did not dare say anything and neither did I dare leave the room.

Presently Miss Bradford renewed the attack upon different angles by asking Mr. Prescott if he had noticed my manicure at the wedding.

Again I protested that they were out by a series of bonds that Allen had given me. At this a most peculiar look passed between Miss Bradford and Johnny Weston. I am almost prowling superstitious over those pearl beads. When I get home I think I shall put them away somewhere and not wear them for awhile. Or perhaps, if they make me act more sensible, I will give them to Beatrice Grimshaw.

I think I should have given them to her long before this if Allen had not made such a point of it that sometime possibly she would want them back.

However, to save any more unpleasantness, I said that I would get the beads they were in a lay suitcase and show them to Mrs. Prescott and Miss Bradford.

When I brought them down both seemed surprised at their loveliness. In fact, I was rather gratified my self. Some way they seemed more beautiful than ever in silence, in the scented atmosphere.

It seemed to me that Priscilla Bradford's fingers fairly stuck to them although she did not try to put them around her neck. She let them run again and again through her fingers as she said: "Even an imitation string of pearls as fine as this must have been very expensive."

I answered coldly that I knew nothing about their cost, that I hadn't even glanced at the ticket on the subject.

Miss Bradford said, "I would love a string like them if they were not so expensive."

Mrs. Prescott spoke up, "I would be glad to buy a string just like them, Priscilla dear. You have been so nice to me. Leslie will write to her sister and find out where they were purchased."

Just as she said this there [illegible] Karl Whitney [illegible] Mrs. Leslie Prescott."

TOMORROW—THE secret letter continued—A heart-breaking insult.

HER VACATION

The breeze comes scented with the pinks
That blossom in the garden fair,
But at her casement still she pinks
Over lawn and lace and ribbons there

Come out! Come out—the chorus goes
From trees and sky and birds awing
Yet still she sits and sews and sews
Nor hears nor heeds the song they sing

But after lamplight comes the maid
In dainty negligee bedight
In all her panoply arrayed
Tricked up by day to shine at night

And then a smile upon her face
She'll say with girlish artlessness
It's so nice here you know—a place
Where one need not fix up and dress!

A Science

Mothercraft according to Mrs Flora Grimes in charge of that department of the institute has advanced beyond the baby bathing and dressing stage

Not only must a mother know how to prepare properly balanced menus for her family and how to sterilize the babys milk bottle but she must keep up on her grammar so well that she will never split an infinitive in Johnnys presence and she must furnish the living room so artistically that the children would rather stay home than go to the movies

The course in education and psychology in the mothercraft department gives mothers pointers on understanding their childrens mental reactions Refractory boys and girls are studied psychologically

A general course in history and social science enables mother to keep up in the dinner table conversations of her superior offspring

Everything Covered

The course in biology includes the physical care and development of the children

Through a study of English composition and rhetoric the mother can see to it that the native tongue is spoken without corruption in the home

What Is Fame to Some Chicago Art Visitors?

BY GEORGE BRITT

CHICAGO, July 6. "What picture here is the biggest?"

That question on painting is the most often asked of the guards by casual visitors at the Art Institute of Chicago. It goes in the same classification with the question, 'Which picture is worth the most money?" and the comment, 'That's a beautiful frame."

When the King Tut interest was at its height, visitors seeking the Egyptian room commonly made the inquiry, "Where are the dummies?" And confusing the art galleries for the neighboring museum of natural history people pass unnoticing beside Rembrandts and Corots while they ask, "Is this the corridor to the stuffed animals?"

Accompanying this jazz comment on art, the guards at the institute pick out striking instances of unartistic looking people who register keen appreciation. Ancient vagabonds, looking as if they had slept the night before in the park beside the gallery, come on free days and study pictures intently.

Just the other Sunday there came a Mexican tattooed section hand, in new black shirt and overalls, and he had an uncanny, reverent way of lingering at what critics called the best pictures.

A wealthy collector of pottery, who makes trips to the Art Institute every few months from her home in Michigan, has a carryall system which might be the pattern for the most modern bootlegger equipment.

She is elderly and has no taste for flapper costume. On the contrary, she has her skirts made long and full. Somewhere in the rustling interior of the skirt are concealed pockets, in which she carries rare Wedgewood china and priceless porcelains. She will walk into the museum without handbag or visible luggage. But before she sits down in the office which she is to visit, she delves into the skirt and exhibits her treasures. Not one has been broken yet.

The interior decorating department at the Institute vouches for this story:

The tenants in a certain department building habitually complained of the cold. Even late in the spring they reported that they were freezing. It was noticed that the walls were decorated with austere grays and blues.

The landlord called on the painter instead of the coal man, fired up the coloring and was commended for heightened temperature. Then summer came, and the walls became bake ovens.

Color blindness might be considered fatal to an artist, but it did not prevent Harry R. Wyrick, a former student here, from winning a poster contest conducted by the federal war risk insurance bureau.

Red and green constitute merely an indistinguishable blur for Wyrick. He discovered the defect in vision when he gave up his job as a mechanic in Pittsburgh, Kas., several years ago and came to Chicago to study art. He limited his work largely to black and white, and struck a winning pace.

Nudes mean nothing any more in the lives of picture gazers. But work in the futuristic and post-impressionist styles, the splotches and jagged blocks which represent moods and preach novel sermons, is regarded as an insult. A recent exhibition which featured modernistic, radical schools of painting, brought screams of protest.

A story which percolates up to Chicago from Girard, Kas., seat of the publishing business of E. Haldeman-Julius, concerns the wide circulation of the little paper bound volumes of classics distributed frm there.

"A recent order came from a convict in the death cell," says the publisher. "It was dated on the 21st day of the month, and the man was sentenced to be hanged the 6th of the following month. He asked us to rush his order so he might have time to read his books. One of them was 'Common Faults in Writing English.'

"Eventually I got him a stay of execution, which may help him prove his innocence."

SURVEY SEASON BUILDING WORK

Savings To Industry And Public Expected From Investigating Committee This Week

Savings, not only to the building industry and its workers, but to the public generally are expected to result from the activities of a committee on seasonal operation in construction industries, the appointment of which by Herbert Hoover, chairman of the President's Conference on Unemployment, has just been announced by the Department of Commerce. This saving should be reflected in lower relative cost of dwellings and other buildings.

Previous surveys have indicated that most construction activity is concentrated in seven to ten months of the year, which means that building trades workers can not find work in their trade during several months, and that contractors' organizations and equipment, architects, engineers, building material producers, and thers connected with construction, most usually remain idle for similar periods. This idle time represents waste, and direct losses to the construction industries themselves, their workers, and the public.

The committee was formed in the hope that by examining the facts and proposed remedies, it might be able to suggest sound solutions, and obtain general cooperation in effecting them. It is the general impression that seasonal building has been due perhaps more to custom than to weather, and it is expected that the investigation will throw light on this and other important points.

WHAT'S GOING ON IN THE WORLD

A diminutive wood shark, cow town to the northwest with 600 inhabitants aspired to be heard round the world. It was!

Now the little town of Shelby, Mont., 100 miles north of Great Falls has settled down to its former state of comparative obscurity to recuperate from what is generally conceded to be the greatest business stroke of sports. It was the Jeffries-Gibbons fight, 15 rounds for the world's heavyweight championship from which Dempsey emerged victor after 15 hard fought rounds.

Upon entrance of the town the cow boy Shelby hoped to reap millions by which at last reports, amount to some $10,000. Shelby's loss is Dempsey's gain and that of his promoter Tex Rickard, for these left the west with something like $210,000 in their jeans.

Yet Shelby like the boastful frog didn't blow himself up until it burst and promised Kearns $300,000 before the fight, and could scrape together but two-third of the sum.

"Shelby's Folly" the event will be recorded in history. Shelby, returns into its old boom cow town shell, its dreams to live it down.

Leviathan Off

July 1 saw the departure from New York of the United States liner Leviathan, largest steamship afloat, which had been reconditioned by the government for trans-Atlantic service. The ship formerly was the German liner Vaderland which had been confiscated by the government at the beginning of the war.

Now an argument is proceedings as whether the German sailors on leaving practice sabotage on the liner. Former Secretary of Navy Josephus Daniels says they did.

Medicinal Liquor

Since Congress gave assent for the use of alcohol for medical purposes, its boomerang has come back in the form of a decision by Federal Judge George M. Bourquin, at Helena, Mont., that the physicians can no longer be told what quantities he may prescribe.

Judge Bourquin practically declared unconstitutional that part of the Volstead act which seeks to limit the number of prescriptions a physician may write.

The Pope Intervenes

France has greatly resented the pope's intervention into the Ruhr controversy, when he wrote a letter in which he proposed that Germany's ability to pay should be taken as a basis for reparations, and suggested that France might find less "odious" but no less effective guarantees than territorial occupations.

The Vatican denies the pope's letter was prompted by influence from England or Belgium, although there were such changes in the French Chamber of Deputies. However, a somewhat similar letter went to the papal representative at Munich, in which he was commissioned to intervene with the German authorities for "peaceful resistance" in the Ruhr. Chancellor Cuno complied, to some extent, by deprecating recent acts of sabotage in the occupied zone.

Greek-Turk War

War is actually on between Greece and Turkey although little is heard of it here. Attempt of the Greeks to land a regiment of troops at Kara-Burun, near the Dardanelles, met with a repulse which resulted in the sinking of a Greek ship and many casualties on both sides.

Balance of Power

Senator La Follette of Wisconsin is taking a hand in the Minnesota senatorial fight, in his efforts to gain the balance of power over the two leading parties in Congress. If he accomplishes the election of Magnus Johnson, nominee of the Farmer-Labor Party, pledged to follow La Follette's leadership, over Governor J. A. O. Preus, the Republican candidate to succeed the late senator Knute Nelson, he will be able to dictate terms of settlement on all questions in the U. S. Senate on which both parties are divided.

The Farmer-Labor Party itself is divided. Its convention last week ended in the formation of the Federated Farmer Labor Party out of the older organization. Both parties will have candidates in the 1924 presidential elections, thus considerably weakening the radical movement.

Immigration Rush

Ellis station records swell and burst. The first day of July found 11 liners nosing their way toward Ellis Island. These vessels carried 14,482 passengers of all classes and crews of 4,100 men. That meant 15,582 had to be examined by inspectors.

It was nearly double the number arriving on the same day a year ago. The law allowing a monthly admission of 3 per cent of the nationals already in the country, caused the rush on the first of the month. About 80 per cent of the arrivals were admitted.

Peace Prize

A stimulus has been given the age-long effort to find permanent peace for the world. Edward W. Bok of Philadelphia offers the amazing sum of $100,000 to the one who formulates the best and most workable plan by which the United States may co-operate with other nations to achieve and preserve world peace.

Anyone may try. And judging from reports, everyone is trying. Money, as always is the lure. The first $50,000 will be paid for the idea; the second one when its practicability is demonstrated.

Gary Promises

Stirred by public opinion and the words of President Harding, E. H. Gary of the U. S. Steel Corporation and American Iron and Steel Institute, announces he will do all in his power to abolish the 12-hour day in the steel industry. It will require at least 60,000 more laborers, he says, and will add about 15 per cent to the cost of the finished product.

Churches, welfare organizations and philanthrophic societies, that have worked for years to eliminate the long inhuman shift in the steel mills, rejoice at the announcement. They now await its execution, for they think Gary the only man who can do it.

Gary expects to realize the 8-hour day with the aid of colored workers from the south and immigrants now flocking to this country.

Into the Studebaker Big-Six five-passenger Coupe have gone, without compromise, the finest design, materials, workmanship and the best of Studebaker's 71 years' experience.

Nothing has been left undone to make this big, roomy coupe as fine an enclosed car as can be built.

Certainly no car performs more brilliantly or is more reliable. None possesses greater beauty or is more luxuriously comfortable. None is more enjoyable to drive—and no other make of car is more completely equipped.

You will appreciate the generous roominess of this Big-Six Coupe, its sterling quality of body and chassis and its wealth of refinements—including the large trunk; extra disc wheel complete with tire, tube and tire cover; handsome nickel-plated bumpers front and rear; courtesy light; motometer; flower vase; clock; aluminum-bound running boards with corrugated rubber mats and step pads; rear-view mirror, automatic windshield cleaner, glare-proof visor, and many others.

Its low price is due to large volume and to the fact that Studebaker overhead is shared by three models—all sixes. Then, too, only one manufacturing profit is included in the Big-Six price because all vital parts are manufactured in Studebaker plants.

DETAILS OF ENTERTAINING KIWANIS DISTRICT CONVENTION WORKING

Entire Personnel of Committees For Occasion Appointed—Plan to Make This Meeting Biggest Thing in Local Kiwanis Career

ENTERTAINMENT OF LADIES TO BE BY KIWANIS WOMEN

With the long anticipated Kiwanis district convention only a little more than two months off, September 27 and 28, plans for the occasion are beginning to be shaped into definite form. With the skeleton work of convention entertainment well worked, with the matter of financing well underhand, standing committees for the convention have been appointed this week and definite plans as to details will be formulated as soon as the chairmen can meet with their committees and discuss plans.

It is a big undertaking for a town the size of Middlesboro and a club membership the size of the local one to undertake the entertainment of such a convention, but the big way in which every thing that this Kiwanis Club has undertaken has been put over leaves no uneasiness in the minds of those persons acquainted with its work as to whether they will put this over or not. The club has had a year to work on this convention and plans for entertainment are being so well worked out that it will undoubtedly be the crowning accomplishment of the club.

The Hotel Cumberland will be headquarters for the convention. Guests will also be entertained at the Boone-way Inn and at the other local hotels. A large number of Middlesboro homes will be opened to the visitors too, and Pineville has promised unlimited co-operation, with the use of her hotels and her members' homes for entertaining the delegates to the convention of whom up to one thousand are expected.

All local cars that can possibly be commandeered for the occasion will be put into use to carry the guests to the various show places in this vicinity and to take them to and from their lodgings. Special stunts for novel entertainment are being worked out and it is the plan to have some thing doing every minute.

Plans for entertaining the Kiwanis ladies will probably be in the hands of a committee composed of the wives of the local Kiwanis members. The chairman of whom has not yet been appointed. Suffice to say that this matter will be satisfactorily taken care of.
